WITH THE District Agriculturist

By J. S. Duncan

Rat Control

With the coming of warmer weather rats will start to move around. They should be exterminated now before they infest other premises. Poisons for rat control and full information as to how to handle these pests are available free of charge from your Pest Control Officer. Let's get back to where we can say Alberta is rat free, all it takes is a little bit of co-operation on the part of all concerned. Any one seeing or suspecting rats should report this at once so that control measures can be started immediately.

Livestock Improvement Policies

The Department of Agriculture has in effect policies set up to give assistance to farmers raising commercial cattle, sheep and hogs. On beef and dairy bulls this amounts to ten percent of the cost plus the shipping charges. On boars it is five or ten dollars (depending on the value of the animal) plus the shipping charges. On rams it is the selection of the ram plus the shipping charges. For more detailed information drop in and see me or write to me.

Seed Treatment

The proper treatment of seed is a very important factor in crop production. Diseases are more prevalent now than they were fifteen or twenty years ago and so we have to take more care in our treatment. At the present time the Mercury compounds are still our most effective seed treatments. These compounds come in dry dusts, oil dusts or slurry forms. There are many trade names to choose from. Many of these come mixed with compounds for wireworm control. You are thinking of some of the non-mercury compounds be sure to read the label carefully to see that it is effective for what you wish to treat for. Most seed dressings are poisonous and should be handled with care at all times. Follow the directions on the package both for proper application to the seed and protection to yourself.

Don't use formaldehyde as it can seriously reduce the germination of your seed unless handled very carefully.

Card of Thanks

We wish to express our thanks to all the friends who so kindly sent letters, cards and gifts for the baby while in hospital and since coming home. Robin, Delores and Alan Johnson

EASTER MORN.

In the end of the Sabbath, as it began to dawn toward the first day of the week, came Mary Magdalene and the other Mary to see the sepulchre.

And, behold, there was a great earthquake: for the Angel of the Lord descended from heaven, and came and rolled back the stone from the door, and sat upon it.

His countenance was like lightning, and his raiment white as snow: And for fear of him the keepers did shake, and became as dead men.

And the Angel answered and said unto the women, Fear not: for I know that ye seek Jesus, which was crucified. He is not here: for He is risen, as He said. Come, see the place where the Lord lay.

And as they went to tell His disciples, behold, Jesus met them saying, All hail. And they came and held Him by the feet, and worshipped Him. Matt. 28:1-6, 9.

SQUARE DANCE CALL

A well-attended square dance, which included visitors from Albert Circle A, Sedgewick and Wainwright, was held in Kiefer's Hall Saturday evening, March 24th, with Henry Lien calling.

As a take-off on the sleazy chase held at Aintree, England, the same day, four couples were called to the front of the hall and asked to make a mental note of the positions of the numerous chairs placed haphazardly between the starting and finishing line. Then, after being carefully blindfolded and turned around in the proper direction, the race was on! The winner in a breeze was Mrs. Lismore of Wainwright, followed closely by her husband—the race was in pairs. The spectators immensely enjoyed watching the participants grope their way to the finish line, especially since the chairs had been removed beforehand, unknown to the 'horses'.

Our next square dance will be held Saturday, April 7 in Kiefer's Hall, Irma, with "Hoe-down" Henry Lien of "Square Dance Party", radio program C.F.C.W. Camrose again doing the calling. Lunch will be served.

No brushes or soap in a natural gas "Scrubbing Plant" . . . but here a cleaning job is done to remove certain elements from gas that would reduce its efficiency as a fuel. To further purify "wet" or "sour" gas, dehydrators are used to remove water vapor, while absorption towers take out unwanted petroleum liquids. This "processing" is a vital part of natural gas service. For always the final product must be clean, dry natural gas — Alberta's perfect fuel!

With GAS you get service — we plan it that way!

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY — the line that sells

—By A. H. ORLOFF

"I'M NOT through yet, Mary," said Joe Morris. "Your father doesn't want us to marry now, but I'll keep right on trying to convince him."

Mary Delany kissed him lightly through a ring of tobacco smoke from his pipe. "Father will like that," she said. "He's a salesman at heart, and so are you. He certainly won't think less of you for trying."

Joe smiled wryly. "How much less than nothing?"

"You know that isn't so," Mary said. "He really likes you a lot."

"Then he has a strange way of showing it," Joe replied. "When I came out of the army and got my old job back, your father told me I hadn't lost my knack. He said that I was a better salesman than ever. He'd joke and say some day I'd be the salesmanager in his place. But he's changed since he learned about us. Very formal, if you know what I mean. Because all business with me, and had no time for the old jokes. Not to mention the fact that he's handed me just about every tough sales account in the office."

"Do you know what I think, Joe?" said Mary, earnestly. "I think you are just being terribly self-conscious. But please don't worry. You've sold me. And who says you can't sell father, too? There isn't another salesman like you in that old company."

At the weekly sales conference the next day, Joe was listening to Mr. Delany deliver his usual fifteen-minute pep talk. In one guise or another, Joe had heard it all before. But towards the end he grew keenly attentive as Mr. Delany in his gruff, hearty manner said, "Find the line that sells, and stick to it! That's my personal slogan. And I don't mean a line of goods. I mean that little something that goes to the heart of your customer. When you find it, use it. Get right under his skin. The rest is as easy as selling apple pie. You'll sell him, because it has worked for me for twenty years."

The idea excited Joe. But how was he to find the line that would sell a hardened customer like Mr. Delany? He wanted to think about it when the meeting ended. He had just reached the door when Mr. Delany, stepping away from the other salesmen, growling around him, called out, "Joe, just a minute. I want to see you." Joe turned back. Mr. Delany's tone worried him. After the room was cleared Mr. Delany said, "I'm turning over the Hiram Gould account to you. Mr. Gould is expected in from Chicago tonight. Meet him at the station. Now, Joe, this time the company wants his business. Dick Travers had the assignment three months ago. He did not get Gould's order. See that you do!"

Joe found Mr. Gould a short, stout man with sharp eyes. Joe, himself, was watchful and very attentive. He saw Mr. Gould's expression change as a young couple went in arm in arm. "They seem to be very happy," Joe remarked. "A taxi rolled up and Mr. Gould leaned back in his seat. 'Yes,' he said, 'that young couple seemed happy. Married, I suppose. That's what I like. I like married people. I like to do business with a married man. He has a sense of responsibility. Much more dependable, although I admit you'll find exceptions.'"

Joe sensed what was coming next. He thought of Mr. Delany's speech and he made a quick decision. He was prepared for Mr. Gould's question.

Joe looked at him brightly. "Yes, indeed, Mr. Gould," he said. "Just recently. And to the finest girl in the world."

The taxi drew to a stop at the hotel. "That's good, my boy," said Mr. Gould. "I'm very glad to know that. Well, I'll see you tomorrow, and we'll get down to business then. Make it for lunch right here at the hotel. And I'll tell you what, I'd like to meet your bride. Bring her along."

Joe could hardly wait until Mr. Gould entered the hotel. He rushed for a telephone. Mary did not quite understand what he was trying to tell her. But from his excitement, she knew something important had happened. Mary agreed to meet him immediately at their favorite spot.

He told her about Mr. Gould.

"It came to me like a flash," Joe explained. "Right out of your father's sales slogan. 'Find the line that sells and stick to it! Mary, I've found that line. There's only one way I can stick to it. I need your help to do it. Will you marry me?'"

"You mean now? Right away, Joe?"

He nodded eagerly. "It's the only way," he said. "I've only got until noon tomorrow."

"But, Joe, there's father."

"Don't worry about your father," Joe broke in. "I'm sure I've found the line that will sell him, too. One thing he'll never do, and that's go back on his own slogan."

Mary looked at him. Joe had his answer. "Honey," he said. "Let's go!"

At lunch the next day Mr. Gould asked Mary, "How long did you say you've been married?" Happily, Mary replied, "Oh, recently, very recently."

Mr. Gould looked at her. "Yes, I thought so. That's what your husband told me last night," Mr. Gould laughed, and had a good time. After lunch he gave Joe an order that made his eyes pop. "Since you've only recently been married," Mr. Gould said to Joe, "you can tell Mr. Delany that this order of mine is sort of a wedding present. On second thought, I think I'll tell him myself." Joe and Mary exchanged glances. Joe put his arm around her, reassuringly. Mr. Gould beamed.

"What now?" Mary asked after he left them.

"Wait," Joe said. "We just wait. Trust me, honey. Let Mr. Gould have his talk with your father. I'm banking on his slogan. As soon as he sees Mr. Gould, your father will hunt the city for us. Meanwhile, we'll sit tight. We'll telephone him later to break the news just as if it were a surprise!"

Mary telephoned her father early that evening. Joe stood by whispering, "Now don't forget the slogan. It's our trump card! When the connection was finally completed Joe heard Mr. Delany's explosive, "Mary! Where are you?" After that he heard only an assortment of sounds boom over the telephone, then a sudden Mary's happy laughter.

"There, what did I say?" Joe shouted. "I said your father wouldn't go back on his own slogan. Worked like magic. Isn't it wonderful?"

"And so are you," Mary said, hugging him. "Father said to tell you he's not the company salesmanager just for the fun of the job. He wanted to be sure you had what it takes. He knew Mr. Gould's little peculiarity, that he would only buy from a married man. He learned that when Dick Travers had the first sale. That's why he gave you the assignment. He hoped you would know what to do. You didn't disappoint him — or me."

"Oh, yes, we do," insisted one of the old maids. "We know what it means to be lonely!" 3185

Nitrogenous fertilizers on market

Nitrogen for use as a fertilizer is on the market in gaseous, liquid and solid forms. Each has some advantages in regard to cost, application or ease of handling, but so far as the plant is concerned, it makes little difference which form is used if equal amounts of nitrogen are applied, says J. L. Doughty, Soil Research Laboratory, Canada Department of Agriculture, Swift Current, Sask.

When nitrogen in the form of ammonia is applied to a soil it is changed into nitrate within a few days by soil micro-organisms, providing the soil temperature and moisture supply are favorable. Practically all nitrogen used by plants enters the root system in the form of nitrate irrespective of the form initially applied to the soil.

The oxidation of ammonia to nitrate is very slow when the soil temperature is below 45 degrees F. and for this reason late fall application of nitrogen in the form of ammonia can be made without much danger of loss before plant growth starts in the spring.

When anhydrous ammonia is applied to a dry soil there is more danger of loss than when the soil is moist, for the ammonia gas must combine with the soil moisture to be relatively safe from loss by volatilization. Nitrogen in the form of ammonia is held by the colloidal material and is relatively safe from loss by leaching, while the nitrate form moves freely with the soil moisture and may be lost by deep percolation following heavy rains.

The farmer when deciding which nitrogenous fertilizer to use must consider the cost per unit of nitrogen, the method of application and the ease of handling. These factors must be balanced one against the other to determine which fertilizer is the most suitable for the particular case under consideration.

It must be kept in mind that the maximum return from any fertilizer will only be obtained when the other essential elements and moisture are present in adequate amounts. Nitrogen will not compensate for some other nutrient that may be lacking.

CINDER IN THE EYE

The cinder that flies into the eye on a windy day can cause a lot of pain and, if it is not properly removed, it may cause infection. Probing for it or rubbing the eye may result in the cinder becoming embedded in the eyeball. A simple way of removing most foreign bodies is to wipe the lower lashes, then draw the upper lid out and down over the lower, in order to "sweep" the cinder from the upper lid. If this is not successful, it is best to see a doctor to have the object safely removed.

A.A.U. Information -- Wrestling

(By Stratton F. Caldwell, Physical Director Y.M.C.A., Regina)

Although amateur wrestling appears to have come into prominence only within the last few decades, it is actually one of the oldest sports known to man. It was one of the most popular contests in the ancient Olympic Games and also formed part of the Pentathlon, an all around athletic championship which included running, jumping, throwing the discus and the javelin.

During the Olympic Games, however, the objective of wrestling was not merely the pinning of an opponent's shoulders. The wrestler aimed to knock his opponent down and then shorten his earthly days with a lethal weapon.

Today the values of wrestling are recognized both in the amateur and professional fields.

The smallest wrestler strives to develop self reliance, aggressiveness, strength, flexibility, balance, speed, leverage and the ability to work under extreme conditions of physical stress.

The professional wrestler, usually an excellent amateur wrestler to begin with, must develop showmanship and theatrical ability to a high degree.

The basic difference between the two types of wrestling is the ultimate aim. Amateur wrestlers seek to gain control over the opponent at all times and pin the shoulders to the mat for a required number of seconds. Points are awarded throughout the match by referees for take downs, position, aggressiveness, escapes, near falls and other movements. A match may be won on points with no pinning of the shoulders. In professional wrestling, however, very few holds are illegal and the contestants may win by either pinning his opponent or causing him to submit to defeat by means of painful, punishing holds.

There are two rather distinct styles in amateur wrestling practiced throughout the world today, Graco-Roman and Free style wrestling.

BEAUTY CROWN RIVALS

Rivals for the beauty crown among North American waterfowl, the Wood Duck and the Hooded Merganser are also rivals for nesting sites. Both prefer sites above the ground, usually in a tree or in a hollow log. Conflict between the two species for a particular site often occurs, but occasionally the female of one species will lay its eggs in the nest of the other species, indicating that a degree of tolerance exists. Both species are popular to North America.

Mrs. Verne Sampson has returned to her home here after a ten-day stay in Wainwright hospital.

Mrs. J. Craig is also able to be out of hospital. Let us hope all our other friends who have been sick will soon be home too.

Mr. Ross Eaton arrived home on Tuesday from Viking hospital to make one more on our recovery list.

The draw for the L.O.B.A. raffle of a child's swish sweater and an Easter ham will not be made for at least another week. Owing to road conditions it is impossible to get in all the tickets. Anyone wishing to purchase more tickets can get them at the Irma Co-op.

Mrs. H. L. Black was a recent Edmonton visitor.

Mrs. Leo Shaw has obtained work in the city so she may be near her husband while he is convalescing.

Mrs. L. Loades, Harold and Myrna will be leaving Irma shortly to make a new home at Viking. Irma folk are most sorry to see them go and hope we shall often see them back this way.

We are sorry that the names of Messrs. Wright, Evans and Christenson were omitted from the account of the ice carnival at Irma. These three gentlemen who really worked hard that night and added a great deal of fun to the carnival by their costumes and antics most certainly deserve mention. To the list of prize winners should be added the name of Cheryl McMillan whose "Rus in Boots" costume was very good.

Mrs. C. Anquist is a patient in Wainwright hospital this week.

Recent visitors at the home of Mrs. M. Chase were Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Clay, David and Dorothy of Paradise Valley, Miss Mildred Clay of Edmonton, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Allen and Mr. and Mrs. G. Allen of Wainwright, Mr. and Mrs. C. Allen of Strome and Mr. and Mrs. M. Allen of Violet Grove.

Mr. John Nolan is a patient in Viking hospital.

There will be a Free Show and Dance, Tuesday, April 3, in Kiefer's hall. Two shows—2 p.m. and 8 p.m. Dance at 10:30 p.m. Sponsored by International Harvester and P. E. Jones Co.
